

After his high school graduation, Sven Nielsen completed an apprenticeship at the renowned Bookstore Baedeker in Essen (Germany) before he started studying publicistic and musicology at the Freie Universität Berlin. After a brief interruption he continued and finished these studies at the Karl Franzens-Universität and the University of Performing Arts Graz 2017 with a Master's thesis on the subject of Giovanni Battista Velluti (the last castrato on an opera stage). During his studies he had the possibility to participate in several projects at the University Library (KUG) and is now responsible for its Historical Collection (Rara-Collection).
